

I am an electronic engineer associated with electronics, metrology, computers and networks for over thirty years. My experience and knowledge are both used to solve problems that other companies or professionals fail to.

I am specializing in industrial and office systems, which use computers, microcontrollers, and a variety of network communications.

For many years I dealt with matters of information security. I made projects, coached people, advised and evaluated solution within this area. If you are interested in these issues, I invite you to visit my educational site and blog.

The fact that on the market there are no ready-made solutions solving your problem, is not an obstacle for me. That is because I solve most of these difficult problems by building from scratch systems tailored to the Customer's needs.

Feel free to contact us.
